

Business Presentations Made Easy

Deliver engaging, confident and winning presentations - every time!

Course Overview

This is an essential two days for anyone wishing to become highly adept at presenting. The course blends the experience and skills of our senior team who have been delivering business presentation programmes for over 10 years and incorporates some of the more recent advances in accelerated learning and Neurolinguistic Programming.

Why this Course?

pitchblue, a leader in NLP based training, offers you the chance to become a more competent, engaging and dynamic presenter in just two days. Delivering new skills and techniques over such a short period, the programme is fairly demanding but highly effective and of course, great fun too! You'll leave with renewed clarity and a more solid perspective on how to present with panache!

Who is it Aimed at?

A significant, progressive approach - this is for anyone looking to reach new levels of competency and proficiency for presenting. It is designed for those that are either already experienced or for those who want to make their presentations even better. It's also useful for managers and leaders who wish to learn or refresh their skills for making more confident and dynamic corporate presentations.

What will I Learn?

During the two days you can expect to cover subjects such as building rapport with the group, dealing with difficult clients, developing confidence in presenting, flexibility of approach to groups, the use of effective language, building observation skills to assess delegate 'buy-in' and basically how to make any and all presentations enjoyable, interesting and even exciting!

Why is this Program so Good ?

pitchblue will ensure that the course helps you understand how to make speaking to groups easy for yourself and of great interest and thoroughly enjoyable for your delegates. On successful completion of the course, participants will be awarded a pitchblue Certificate of Achievement and we guarantee that you will approach all your future presentations with renewed vigour and enthusiasm.

£245 + VAT

Book now or enquire

